Guarded Hint From British Is Given Poland

Interest In The Future of Danzig Is Evidenced

LONDON, May 8.—(P)—The British government dropped a guarded hint today to her new ally, Poland, that she would "welcome amicable settlement," possibly through arbitration, of Poland's quarrel with Germany over the Free City of Danzig.

Both Richard Butler, undersecretary for foreign affairs, and Prime Minister Chamberlain intimated to the House of Commons that Britain would be ready to lend her good offices in establishing some form of international machinery to arbitrate the Danzig question, should Germany and Poland ask her to do so.

Butler said the question of the future of Danzig was "primarily a matter for negotiation between parties to the Danzig settlement." The principal allied and associated powers undertook by the World War Treaty of Versailles to establish Danzig as a free city under protection of the League of Nations.

In the Commons session Chamberlain also said the government was attempting to obtain fullest cooperation with Soviet Russia in its present policy. Negotiations are under way to bring Russia into the British-French lineup.

The House was in an uproar during discussion of the Soviet negotiations when Laborite Leader Clement R. Attlee asked: "Does the prime minister not realize that public opinion is disturbed by the contrast between the rapidity of acceptance of onerous obligations by this country and the dilatory methods in seeking for lateral security?"

The opposition cheered Attlee while government supporters shouted for Chamberlain when he replied:

"I do not agree there have been any dilatory methods."

Speed Delayed Checks To Aged

JEFFERSON CITY, May 8.—(P)—The social security commission received delayed federal funds for May old age grants today and began at once the task of speeding checks to 75,326 recipients.

Administrator George I. Harworth said the checks all would be in the mails by Thursday. The number of recipients represents a decrease of thirty from April, but the size of the average grant increased 4 cents to $18.71.

Total May payments will be $1,413,224, an increase of $2,930 over the preceding month.

The check from Washington carried $789,921 in old age funds and $75,374 for May aid to dependent children payments. The checks for the latter form of relief will be mailed either at the end of this week or the first of next.

The federal government pays half of the grants to aged persons, one-third of the child aid checks.

State officials said no explanation for the delay in the May funds was given by the federal board other than press of business. The Missouri commission expressed a fear last month that Washington might hold up the state's money because of "inadequate" legislative appropriations for administration in 1939-40.

The May recipients and payments by counties, included:

Boone, $36, $15, 155; Buchanan, 1,870, $35,922; Butler, 597, $10,810; Cape Girardeau, 538, $8,376; Cole, 388, $7,056; Greene, 2,068, $43,369; Grundy, 519, $8,840; Jackson, 7,548, $158,869; Jasper, 2,274, $47,323; Livingston, 622, $11,072; Marion, 842, $14,210; Nodaway, 705, $13,949; Pettis, 1,073, $22,612; Randolph, 895, $16,558; St. Louis City, 8,028, $172,014; St. Louis County, 1,925, $35,216; and Vernon, 854, $17,517.

Flying Schools For Training Novice Pilots

Secretary Woodring Selects Nine In Expansion Plan

WASHINGTON, May 8.—(P)—Secretary Woodring selected today nine civilian flying schools to help the army expand the number of its pilots to more than 4,500 in the next two years.

The schools will give novice pilots three months of primary training, beginning the first class on July 1. Those selected were Spartan School of Aeronautics, Tulsa, Okla.; Santa Maria School of Flying, Santa Maria, Calif.; Dallas Aviation School and Air College, Dallas, Texas; Ryan School of Aeronautics, San Diego, Calif.; Alabama Institute of Aeronautics, Tuscaloosa, Ala.; Grand Central Flying School, Glendale, Calif.; Parks Air College, East St. Louis, Ill.; Lincoln Airplane and Flying School, Lincoln, Neb.; and the North Suburban Flying Corporation, Glenview, Ill.

After three months of primary training, the student passes on to Randolph Field, San Antonio, Texas, for basic training for three months and then to Kelly Field also at San Antonio, for more advanced training during a final three months.

Students must be unmarried, between 20 and 27 years old, and must pass a rigid physical examination. The pay of a flying cadet is $75 per month.

Court Etiquette The Tour of King and Queen

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press Foreign Affairs
Writer

NEW YORK, May 8.—Our ambassador to the Court of St. James—the precedent shattering Mr. Joseph Kennedy—has wittingly or otherwise given us a useful hint as to what King George and Queen Elizabeth expect to find in the way of deference to royalty during their forthcoming visit here.

On the eve of their Britannic majesties' departure for Canada and the United States, his excellency and Mrs. Kennedy gave a dinner for the king and queen at the American embassy. It was a very splendid affair and some of the most illustrious people of the land were guests.

It was, in fact, one of those substantial items which go to pile up the total of a hundred thousand dollars or more which

Senate Vote Be This Week On Farm Benefits

Huge Supply Bill For The Navy Is Before The House

WASHINGTON, May 8.—(P)—A Senate vote this week on an additional $338,000,000 for farm benefits probably will determine whether total government appropriations for the year starting next July 1 will surpass this year's expenditures.

The benefit funds are included in a record-breaking $1,216,000,000 bill for agriculture department appropriations called up for Senate debate today. At the same time, a $770,000,000 naval supply bill—largest in peacetime history—came before the House.

A survey shows that regular appropriation bills either enacted or well on their way through Congress carry $572,899,788 more than the same measures did this year.

Two more regular supply bills and next year's relief program are still in the House appropriations committee. President Roosevelt has requested $1,763,000,000 for various relief agencies, against an aggregate of $2,163,000,000 which Congress voted for relief in the current year.

Offset Relief Savings

This potential saving in relief funds, however, would be more than offset if the extra farm benefits are authorized on top of the increases already voted in other departmental funds.

Senator Russell (D-Ga.), floor manager for the farm bill, predicted the Senate would approve a large sum, advocated by southern and western members. Farm leaders express belief House approval would be forthcoming.

The only two measures actually held below the current year's figure are those carrying funds for the District of Columbia and the upkeep of Congress itself. The District of Columbia bill carried $46,915,207 as it passed the House, compared with $48,366,052 for the current year.

This doesn't mean any saving for taxpayers outside the capital, however.

Fifteen to thirty million dollars may be saved next year as a result of the president's reorganization of government agencies. The House already has rejected a proposal to kill the first part of his program, which consequently will go into effect June 24.

The second portion of the plan, shifting bureaus from one department to another, will be submitted to Congress early this week. It will become effective in 60 days unless disapproved by both chambers.

Since this will be the last part of the reorganization program undertaken this year, indications are that Mr. Roosevelt believes Congress will be in session at least until mid-July. Should adjournment come before the 60 days expire, the changes could not go into effect until next session.

Jury Takes Up Drowning Case

KANSAS CITY, May 8.—(P)—The federal grand jury directed its attention today to the drowning of a week ago of Edward L. Schneider, 46-year-old business lieutenant of Boss Tom Pendergast and a key witness in the government's income tax evasion case against the political leader.

Reconvening after a week's recess, the jurors immediately went into executive session. Waiting to testify were Otto P. Higgins, former police director and one of the last persons to talk with Schneider; Robert P. Lyons, Jr., superintendent of the Ready Mixed Concrete Company, and first person to identify Schneider's body; Carl Braun, Ready Mixed Co.'s office manager who saw Schneider writing a suicide note, and Walter Colburn, manager of the Midwest Paving Company.

Burgunder told the sheriff he left Arizona Teachers' college at Tempe April 29, drove into Tennessee and intended enrolling at the teachers' college at Johnson City under the name of a former school-mate. A man who arranged lodging became suspicious of him.

Psychiatrists reported last fall when the soft-spoken youth was paroled from a drug store robbery term that Burgunder was impelled to robbery through knowledge of crime obtained in his father's law office.

Find Body of R.C. Roach In Ruins

JEFFERSON CITY, May 8.—(P)—Searchers abandoned ruins of Jefferson City's historic Madison hotel today, certain Wednesday's disastrous fire claimed but one life—that of R. C. Roach, 29-year-old Clinton, Mo., salesman.

A charred body, identified as that of Roach by a name plate in a key case, was taken from the debris yesterday afternoon. Fire Chief Ferd Robertson, who made the discovery, said the tag bore the name "R. C. Roach" and that one of the keys was for the salesman's automobile, parked near the hotel. The key case was found on the body.

Chief of Police Harry Mackey, who ordered the search for possible victims after Roach was reported missing, said all others known to have been registered at the 70-year-old hostelry had been accounted for.

The charred body was taken to Clinton last night. Roach survived by his widow and a small daughter at Clinton, and a brother in California. He had made his home at Clinton the last two years. At one time he was a resident of Kansas City.

Injured In Fall From An Auto

Mrs. Audrey Bernard, 826 High, Jefferson City, was a patient at the Bothwell hospital Sunday night and this morning, suffering from bruises and scratches, suffered in accident.

Mrs. Bernard was riding in a car with her husband, two miles west of highway 65, on highway 32, about 9 o'clock Sunday night. The car door, opening from the front, was not shut tightly, there being only one of a double catch closed.

A gust of wind blew in through the slight crack and caused the door to open. The suction carried Mrs. Bernard out and she fell in the roadway. Mr. Bernard was going about forty miles an hour.

Mr. Bernard, realizing what had happened, put the brakes on, and the car turned on the roadway and went into a ditch. He was not injured, and the car was slightly damaged.

Other motorists stopped. Mrs. Bernard was picked up and Mr. Bernard assisted in righting his car, which was not damaged so much it could not be driven. Mrs. Bernard was brought to the hospital and taken to her home today.

Deny Charges of Partisanship

Labor Board In Exceptions Over Proposed Changes

WASHINGTON, May 8.—(P)—The National Labor Board, denying charges of partisanship toward any union or prejudice against any employer, took exception today to all proposed amendments to the Wagner Act, but nevertheless suggested further consideration be given four fundamental changes.

In a 40-word report to the house labor committee, the board opposed suggestions of the American Federation of Labor and a half dozen congressmen for basic revisions in the law. These proposals ranged from abolition of the three-man board to outlawing of strikes.

The four propositions which the board said merited "further consideration in the light of facts which may be produced" were:

1. The question of giving employers the right to petition for an election to determine their employees' bargaining agent.

2. Congressional definition of board procedure for determining which bargaining unit is best qualified to represent employees.

3. Curtailment of the board's power to invalidate contracts between an employer and a union.

4. A requirement that hearings on board complaints start 10 to 15 days, instead of five, after the complaint is filed.

Analyze House Bills

Analyzing seven house bills calling for revision of the Wagner Act or changes in administrative procedure, the labor board cited statistics and court decisions to deny prejudice against the American Federation of Labor or employers as a class.

The board estimated that 42 per cent of cases adjusted without formal hearings were settled in favor of the employer and that the supreme court had upheld the board in 77.8 per cent of its cases, as contrasted with a 64 per cent average for federal administrative agencies.

The report was somewhat similar to one filed recently with the senate labor committee. It was particularly critical of suggestions by Rep. Anderson (D-Mo.) and others that employers be granted more leeway in expressing an opinion regarding unionization of workers.

Passage of Anderson's bill, the board said, would make the Wagner Act an "innocuous instrument."

In opposition to proposals for increasing the size of the labor board, the report quoted a letter from Chief Justice Hughes in 1937 saying that an increase in the number of supreme court justices would not promote the court's efficiency.

The grant of unlimited rights to employers to petition for collective bargaining elections, the report continued, would "seriously prejudice the guarantee of employees' self-organization."

The board took issue with the contention of Rep. Hoffman (R-Mich.) that the Wagner Act should be amended to "equalize" rights of employers and employees.

"It is true that the act imposes obligations only upon employers, rather than employees," the report said, "but to attribute 'one-sidedness' to the act for that reason is patently superficial and unrealistic. No sound basis exists for the argument that the act must be 'equalized.'"

Four Accused at Greenville In Poisoning Case

Widow of Victim Is Among Those Facing Charges

GREENVILLE, Mo., May 8.—(P)—Prosecuting Attorney Roy McGee today filed charges of murder in the first degree against four persons, two of them women, in connection with the death on April 15, of Grover Myers, 54-year-old WPA supervisor.

Myers died, according to state highway patrol chemists, as result of poison which was found in his viscera at the laboratory in Jefferson City Saturday.

Mrs. Louise Myers, 42, widow of the poison victim, signed a confession, Sheriff C. L. Rubottom of Wayne county said, that she placed a solution used to kill potato bugs, in a bottle of wine which Myers had made from tomatoes, and that he drank from the bottle.

Also charged with Mrs. Myers are Oscar Franklin Stroup, 39, a farmer; Arley Kemp, 30, a farm laborer and Mrs. Moneda Cook, 22, a neighbor of the Myers family. McGee said they are charged with conspiracy in the alleged poison murder. He said Mrs. Myers, in her confession, contended Stroup and Mrs. Cook had suggested poisoning her husband, Stroup urging her to "get rid" of Myers so she could marry him. She also admitted a clandestine love affair with Stroup, the sheriff said.

McGee said Stroup last night admitted an affair with Mrs. Myers and that he was present when there was a discussion concerning plans to poison Myers.

Kemp, according to the sheriff, was also a suitor of Mrs. Myers. He declined to further reveal the extent of evidence he has obtained against Kemp, however.

Officers said a 17-year-old farm youth, overhearing a conversation between Mrs. Myers and Stroup, started community talk, which finally reached Mrs. Ala Whitner, sister of Mrs. Myers. She made an investigation and then becoming convinced her brother had not died of natural causes, asked officers to take over the case.

The informations were filed before Justice of the Peace George W. Babcock and preliminary hearing was scheduled for May 18.

An inquest scheduled to have been held last yesterday at Gravelton, near where the Myers home is located, was postponed by Coroner Clint Wilson. He said it would be held later this week.

Mental Disease Prevention Would Save a Billion

By STEPHEN J. M'DONOUGH
Associated Press Science Writer

CHICAGO, May 8.—People of the United States could save $1,000,000,000 annually and pay off the national deficit within a comparatively few years by the proper treatment of mental disease, a prominent psychiatrist declared today.

In an interview prior to the opening session of the annual meeting of the American Psychiatric Association, Dr. Arthur H. Ruggles, of Providence, R. I., secretary and treasurer of the organization, listed mental health as the greatest medical problem in America.

Pointing out that 51 per cent of all hospital beds in the country are now occupied by patients with various mental diseases, Dr. Ruggles said that approximately 20 per cent of the federal, state

For Right To Discriminate In Neutrality

Professor Urges Adoption of Such Policy by U. S.

WASHINGTON, May 8.—(P)—James T. Shotwell, Columbia University professor of international law, today urged adoption of a neutrality policy that would permit the United States to discriminate against an aggressor nation in time of war.

Shotwell told the senate foreign relations committee that he was "in sympathy with" the neutrality bill proposed by Senator Thomas (D-Utah) which would allow the President to designate a treaty violator and recommend to congress restrictions upon its trade with this country.

Criticizing neutrality law provisions which apply equally to all warring nations as surrendering "out neutral rights," the witness said that by providing special treatment for treaty-breaking aggressors "we would to some extent recover our freedom of action without at the same time misleading militaristic governments into the delusion that we had ceased to care for our rights."

Whatever neutrality action is taken, Shotwell emphasized, should be finished before a crisis arises. He urged the committee to avoid extreme policies—either extreme isolationism, which he said the present law represents, or internationalism, which he indicated would result from discarding all such legislation and relying upon international law.

The congressional argument appeared today to be narrowing to a choice between the present law, plus renewal of the "cash and carry" system, and the plan proposed by Senator Pittman (D-Nev.).

This leaves one principal question to be settled: Shall the United States refuse to sell arms and ammunition to warring nations, or shall it agree to make such sales for cash?

Waives Hearing On Theft Charge

Unable to furnish a $2,000 bond he was committed to the county jail to await his trial in the higher court.

Smith, it was said by the police, admitted he pilfered the railroad car and more than $200 worth of railroad property was recovered by the officers.

The Trouble With Our Town

Dissenting factions and small cliques have a distinct tendency to thwart any meritorious community project. Common causes call for common action; no single group can command all interest. There is real satisfaction in observing the calm and deliberate operations of the Sedalia Round Table Council. Within this group can be seen the cross section of civic desires and aspirations; each Sedalia organization with its chosen representative to act and respond as an emissary to reveal and promote various community objectives.

The common practice of factional disturbers causing rumors and exaggerated statements to be broadcast for selfish motives is nullified by the Round Table operations. Each organization is quick to be informed by its delegates of what projects are being promoted and why. Reason prevails.

Because of this, the Round Table should be encouraged in its enterprises. In this connection it is interesting to read what Roe Fulkerson has to say in the April issue of the Kiwanis Magazine. Here it is:

"The trouble with our town is that we are never able to get together on anything. The towns around us get twice as much help from the legislature. They have twice as good city government as ours because the citizens of the town all pull together for the right thing.

"But here in our town live the most contrary lot of people who ever lived in one place. I have tried to get them behind me in a dozen moves to better the town, but every one of them has some pet scheme of his own and refuses to get back of anything suggested by some one else.

"If I could just get them to help me, I could make this town fifty per cent better and—What's that? Me get behind their schemes? Don't make me laugh!

"Why, the fellows in this town get up some of the craziest ideas you ever heard of, and expect me and the other men to help them put their ideas across for them. If they would just forget their own fool ideas and get behind some of us who do some real constructive thinking, this town would soon be on the map!"

Haven't you heard this almost word for word? So have we all. The most difficult lesson for any of us to learn is that cooperation works both forward and back. If we do not cooperate with other people in trying to put over their ideas, it is absolutely useless for us to hope that they will help us put over our own.

We must learn to get along with other people before we can learn to get along without them."

Blackfeet Indians will serve as guides in Glacier Park this summer. Will they arrest you if you refuse to buy a blanket?

When nudists in British Columbia threatened a demonstration, police loaded guns with itch powder. Saving public dignity by a scratch.

When man and wife sat together on Westchester county, New York, jury for first time, they heard a case in which a husband sought damages because injury to his wife robbed him of her services. What a natural for a hung jury!

A Posy For Alf

Few men have had a worse licking in a presidential race, taken it with better grace, and looked better afterward, than Alf Landon of Kansas.

Speaking purely of the political race, one might almost say of Alf Landon as Shakespeare said, "Nothing of Landon's splendid record as governor became him quite so much as his admirable spirit since his defeat for the presidency in 1936.

The real innate caliber of the man has been amply shown by his complete lack of any "grudge spirit," and his obvious and simple devotion to his country, even though his one-time rival, with many of whose policies he does not agree, is running it.

Landon accepted with real grace his appointment as a delegate to the Pan-American conference, and served without rancor, making friends for the United States, and commanding the admiration of those who met him. His recent statement on foreign policy, even though he does not completely agree with the President, is another evidence of his admirable devotion to our common country.

A posy for Alf Landon, a man whom defeat could not sour, in whom disappointment could only bring out more strongly his many admirable qualities.

We Souvenir Hunters

There is something deep in the American character that makes us all irrepressible souvenir hunters. No other people is so completely the slave of the pilfered poster, the appropriated ash tray.

This is a curious thing. We begin as mere children. By the time we are of college age we are hauling home anything from a barber pole to a man-hole cover. And we never get over it. When we are doddering around at 86, we come home from G. A. R. conventions with hotel towels and embossed cakes of soap.

So it is not surprising to see that road signs directing visitors to the New York World's Fair are being pilfered wholesale by people whose idea of a good time is to go home with 18-inch steel plates saying "World's Fair, 18 Miles."

"The French, they are a funny race," ran the old song. But your real 100 per cent American—he's a card.

Agitation to make women remove big hats at the movies has broken out again. They might leave them on during the "B" half of the double bill though.

Report is that Clark acted very "lovey dovey" at his marriage to Carole. So that movie manner is the real thing after all.

• The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson and Robert S. Allen

WASHINGTON—John L. Lewis wasn't bluffing when he asserted he had evidence to prove his grave accusation that the AFL amendments to the Wagner Act were formulated in collusion with the "National Association of Manufacturers and other enemies of labor."

The shaggy-browed CIO boss has a file of letters, notes and memoranda that he is going to place before the Senate Labor Committee. How he got the sensational documents is a closely-guarded secret, but he has them, and is going to make them public.

One of the bombshells in Lewis' possession is a letter from Gilbert H. Montague, prominent Wall Street lawyer, to Colby M. Chester, head of General Foods and former chairman of the Manufacturers Association. This letter discloses confidential dealings with Joseph Padway, AFL general counsel, and contains wording identical with parts of the AFL amendments. The letter reads as follows:

"Dear Mr. Colby: When can I confer with you regarding the following confidential matter: 'During July, August and September I supplied confidentially to Judge Padway various legal memos and data he requested regarding certain National Labor Relations Act questions, and during the AFL convention in Houston this month I responded to his hurry calls for additional legal memos and data.

"Judge Padway has now asked me confidentially to prepare for him draft amendments of the Act covering the following points, on which he has now received instructions from the AFL Executive Council: 'First: Jurisdiction shall be granted appellate courts to review the facts as well as the law to determine whether the decisions conform to the weight and credibility of the evidence.

"Second: Separate the administrative functions from the judicial functions of the Board, lodging the judicial functions in a tribunal wholly independent from the National Labor Relations Board.

"I will thank you if on receipt of this you will write or telephone my office when I can confer with you regarding the above.

(Signed) Gilbert H. Montague." Note—Mr. Montague, an expert on anti-trust laws, has been associated with both the National Association of Manufacturers and the Powerful U. S. Chamber of Commerce in drafting legislation proposed by them.

Japanese Curiosity About 48 hours after Dr. Syngman Rhee, the first president of the Korean Republic, established offices of the Korean Nationalist Mission in Washington, he had a very polite and smiling caller. "I am Mr. Hetfield, Dr. Rhee," announced the middle-aged visitor, "Mr. Hetfield, of the Japanese Embassy."

"Yes," replied Dr. Rhee, who, when he led the famous passive revolution against Japanese occupation of Korea, had a Japanese price of $100,000 on his head, "what can I do for you?"

"We would like to know what your work will be here," was the unabashed reply. "My work remains the same it has been for 30 years," said Dr. Rhee. "The object of my life is to hurt Japan and regain for my 23,000,000 fellow countrymen, whom Japan once enslaved, their liberty and independence."

So Mr. Hetfield thanked Dr. Rhee and bowed himself out of the office. Note—Korea was completely conquered by the Japanese in 1910, but thousands of Koreans, bitter against the conqueror, look to Dr. Rhee as president even though he resides in the United States in exile.

Reorganization Secrecy Members of the Cabinet were completely ignorant of Roosevelt's first Government Reorganization proposal until they read it in the newspapers. Many of their departments are vitally affected, but Roosevelt did not even disclose his plan in Cabinet meeting, or offer to discuss it in any manner.

In fact, the President treated his own official family with the same secrecy he would show to hostile Republicans. Result of all this may be that several high-placed officials will turn in their resignations. The resignation of CCC Director Fehner is a certainty, while Federal Housing Administrator Stewart McDonald privately has told friends he will resign if his FHA is put under the proposed new lending agency.

Rumblings among other executives indicates that this may be but the beginning of a flood of resignations from men who have gone down the line 100 per cent for Roosevelt, but now feel they are being shouted around without rhyme or reason.

Note—If the Republicans had been smart enough to sit back and not attack Roosevelt's first reorganization move, high-placed Democrats probably would have defeated it for them.

Weeping Wallace Only Cabinet officer who discussed reorganization with Roosevelt was Henry Wallace, who barged in at the White House uninvited and delivered an almost tearful plea that he be permitted to retain the Forest Service in his Agriculture Department. The Forest Service was slated to go to the Interior Department, which will be charged with conservation.

"My grandfather was one of the great conservationists," Wallace pleaded, "and my father gave up his life for the Department of Agriculture. This is something which is tied up with my entire family, and you can't let me down now." (Wallace was referring to the fact that his father died while Secretary of Agriculture in the Harding-Coolidge Cabinet.)

Roosevelt, who is a great sentimentalist, appeared touched, so far has made no move to transfer the Forest Service away from Wallace.

CHAPTER XX

ON the afternoon that Inspector Hope Kildare, of the United States Immigration and Naturalization Service, admitted that he was in love with Betty Mary Jordan, the first coolness in all their memory came between him and Sheridan Starr.

The Kildare and Starr families had lived in another part of Texas side by side. The parents had been close friends. Young Sheridan and young Hope had enjoyed first fights as small youngsters, but only in teamwork fighting some one else. They had romped and enjoyed life through grade school, high school, thence into college. Perfect athletes, they had achieved wide fame as football players. What one had attained the other had shared, always. And now there was conflict over pretty Betty Mary Jordan.

"Well, Hope," Sheridan said that evening when they would have gone to supper together as usual, "if it's not a sin for you to love her, I guess it's not a sin for me either. I guess we can't either of us help it. You ready to go eat now?"

Hope did not look at his friend. He was staring vacantly away. "Reckon I'm not hungry," he said finally.

Sheridan went without another word. He did not depart whistling, or bantering with other officers in the headquarters offices as he was wont to do. He just walked glumly out, alone.

He didn't know how long he had walked, but when he came to himself at last it was dark. From force of habit he drifted to a favorite cafe and told the waitress there to bring him anything—just anything. She put down a good meal but he ate less than half of it. He got up and wandered out without thinking even to pay his check. The cashier saw him, but didn't disturb him; she knew he was an excellent, steady customer.

"Mr. Starr acts like he's lost his best friend," the waitress commented.

"Got the blues, I guess," said the cashier. "Well, we all get 'em."

"How to Behave"

The Careful Child Always Looks Nice

"Now this," says Yvonne of the Quints, "is the way a CARELESS little girl treats her nice clothes. I always hang mine up CAREFULLY, and that's why I look nice and neat when I wear them."

By Olive Roberts Barton
Once there was a child who had about five dozen dresses. Her mother said she had to have about five dozen dresses because she mused them up so quickly. She went out and got spots on them, too. And she spilled things. And she did not hang them up at night. She never looked very nice for all of her five dozen dresses, because she was so CARELESS.

But another child had only a few dresses. She always looked as neat as a daisy. But this was because she had learned to be careful. She hung up her dress on a hook when she took it off, or laid it over a chair. She hung up her coat, too. She was careful to wipe her hands on a towel or handkerchief, not her dress. She tried to keep as many spots off her clothes as possible. But, of course, once in a while a spot DID get on.

Nobody cared the least about how many dresses the careless child had. And everybody thought how lovely the careful child was. And, oh, what a help she was to her mother. She could even clean her own shoes. Can you do that?

that's the girl herself. If she says she doesn't want one of you, then you can moon around a few weeks and maybe forget it all, after that; or maybe you can never forget, maybe you'll just go on loving her always, regardless. But, in that case, if she does choose the other fellow, then you'd know it was right and proper, even if you did lose. You can just bury your feelings as a sorrow. The other way, you try to bury it but it swells up as a bitterness and an anger, and first thing you know you just have to fight, some way. It's the man in you that does it, son. Now you and Hope go and have that understanding between yourselves, in advance.

Sheridan thought it sound advice. He had a profound respect for old Mrs. Bascom. By 8 o'clock he was downtown looking for Hope, but when they met, Hope was still so cold and so oddly formal that he couldn't bring himself to say much.

"Lordy, Hopey, why'n't we go somewhere and get it off our chest," he suggested, finally. "Where we can talk. We can swap our ideas about the matter and maybe get somewhere, can't we?"

Hope still wouldn't look into his friend's eyes. "Don't see anything to talk about."

"Well, we still have to work together, don't we? Or do we? What about that, Hope?"

"I guess so. That—that hasn't anything to do with it. Betty Mary hasn't anything to do with—the jobs, I guess. It's just that—well, she damn sure can't marry both of us, and—"

"She hasn't said she'd marry either of us yet," said Sherry. "Or maybe she has! Say, have you asked her?" A sudden alarm had struck Sheridan.

Hope ignored that, but put in another significant point. "More important now, it seems to me, is that her window signals are still missing."

"Good lord!" Sherry jumped up. "I plumb forgot about that! Did you look to see? This morning? My gosh, Hopey, I been mooning around all night, and—say, let's go look at her window now!"

"It isn't necessary," Hope declared, somewhat sourly. "I have just looked. In fact I looked all night. I changed out my uniform, spent the time from 9 last evening until daybreak searching every nook and corner in Juarez. She's holding her room, but the Montezuma Hotel had no knowledge of her whereabouts and I couldn't find a trace of her anywhere."

"I know without looking; 'registered, return receipt requested' means he needs money before the college prom."

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Mortals and Immortals" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday May 14, 1939.

Golden Text: II Corinthians 5:4. "We that are in this tabernacle do groan, being burdened: not for that we would be unclothed, but clothed upon, that mortality might be swallowed up of life."

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Let the wicked forsake his way, and the righteous man his thoughts; and let him return unto the Lord, and he will have mercy upon him; and to our God, for he will abundantly pardon" (Isa. 55:7).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "To be immortal, we must forsake the mortal sense of things, turn from the lie of false belief to Truth, and gather the facts of being from the divine Mind" (p. 370).

HERE'S AN INTERESTING
CIGARETTE COMPARISON...
See how it's made by Al
Conklin of Dartmouth

SMOKERS all over the country are learning what A. R. Conklin (right) is showing a group of Dartmouth men. It's a striking way to compare cigarettes by simply watching them burn! Al is testing the leading brands to find the one that burns slowest! Which brand won? C-A-M-E-L... by a wide margin! The reason? Costlier tobaccos, expertly blended in a cigarette that burns slowly, completely—smokes cooler, of course!

Recently, a group of scientists ran this interesting laboratory test on a bigger scale. 16 of the largest-selling cigarette brands were rated impartially. CAMELS BURNED SLOWER THAN ANY OTHER BRAND TESTED—25% SLOWER THAN THE AVERAGE TIME FOR THE OTHER BRANDS. (Camels were remarkably consistent.) IN THE SAME TEST, CAMELS HELD THEIR ASH FAR LONGER THAN THE AVERAGE TIME FOR ALL THE OTHER BRANDS.

Camel is the cigarette of costlier tobaccos... a cooler, milder, better-tasting smoke... every cigarette... every pack!

"Look how slowly the Camel burns compared to the other brands," Albert Conklin points out to the bunch. Everyone agrees that Camels win hands down. "No wonder Camels smoke so cool and mild," Al adds. "And that must have a lot to do with why Camels have such an appealing taste!"

Smoking is Believing!

WHEN you've enjoyed the thrill of a mellow, ripening Camel, you'll know that NOTHING can take the place of costlier tobaccos! What a wonderful pleasure it is to get set with a cigarette that is really mild—a matchless blend, made to give you all the pleasure in smoking.

Camels have more tobacco by weight than the average of the 15 other brands tested. Besides, Camels burn slower than any of those other brands. And by burning 25% slower than the average of the 15 other of the largest-selling brands, Camels give you the equivalent of 5 extra smokes per pack!

Camels give you even more for your money when you count in Camel's finer, more expensive tobaccos. Buy shrewdly! Buy Camels... America's first choice for a luxury smoke every smoker can afford!

Camel's slower burning (compared to the average time of the 15 other brands tested) gives you the equivalent of 5 extra smokes per pack! You economize while enjoying smoking pleasure at its best!

ruptly allowing claims for remodeling a building owned by members of his family. Two weeks ago, he was tried and acquitted on one indictment. His trial on a second indictment, carrying similar charges, is set for next Monday in circuit court here.

To Charge Negligence
McKittrick said the charges against Graves and Williams would be general negligence and failure to perform their duties under the law.

The attorney general said he and the governor has reached a conclusion that Sheriff Williams was equally responsible with Prosecutor Graves for failure to enforce the law in Kansas City.

"The statutes place the specific duty on the sheriff of the county for collecting evidence against law violators, in such things as liquor violations, gambling and other abuses that have gone on in Jackson county."

Asked about reports Graves had proposed he would resign if the governor would agree to appoint a successor who would not violently oppose the democratic organization here, McKittrick said:

"I have received no such proposition. So far as I know this is what happened: It occurred to me that if we could get Graves to resign we could clean up this whole business in Kansas City in short order. I mentioned the possibility to one or two friends of Graves. I did not suggest any trade of any kind, however. Well, the governor refused to consider it, so I abandoned it."

"The governor and I have discussed the question of permitting some of the defendants in the gambling cases to plead guilty to misdemeanor charges instead of going to trial on felony charges."

"It is a felony under the statutes to set up and operate a gambling game and a misdemeanor to conduct a gambling house."

Graves was ordered by the governor last December to take a hand in the Kansas City situation. Conferences between the governor and McKittrick on the Kansas City situation have been guarded closely.

The right of the attorney general to bring ouster proceedings against county officials in the supreme court was upheld last year in a test case against Carl F. Wymore, Cole county prosecuting attorney. This case has not been settled finally but legal points were determined in a preliminary ruling.

Case Set For May 29
KANSAS CITY, May 8.—(P)—Trial of W. W. Graves, Jr., Jackson county prosecutor, charged in four indictments with neglect of official duty, was set today in circuit court for May 29.

Judge Ray G. Cowan called 139 cases on the criminal docket to set trial dates during the May term of court.

State's Attorney General Roy McKittrick was present and said he understood the Graves case would be ready for trial May 29. The county prosecutor left the courtroom before reading of the docket.

The assault with intent to kill case against Charles Gargotta, also was set for trial May 29. He is charged with assaulting former Sheriff Thomas B. Bash in August, 1933.

Other important cases on the docket were the gambling indictments against Charles V. Carrollo, Frank Carrollo, Thomas Laco, Lewis Rabinowitz and seven alleged keepers of the Fortune skill ball game. Their attorneys asked additional time for preparation of the defense, but Judge Cowan ordered them to trial May 10.

Two or three criminal trials may be in progress simultaneously at the courthouse until the middle of June. Judge Cowan, who is presiding over the May term of criminal court, hopes to clear the docket of the 139 cases and two other circuit court judges have been designated criminal judges for the term. As rapidly as cases are ready for trial, Judge Cowan will assign them.

Presiding Judge David E. Long of Jackson county court, will go to trial next Monday before Judge Cowan on another indictment charging he corruptly allowed claims on county funds. Judge Long was acquitted by a jury in his first trial of a similar indictment. His attorneys, in a motion, asserted trial on any of the other three indictments placed the defendant in jeopardy twice but Circuit Judge Albert A. Ridge denied the motion, and set the date for the second trial.

Judge Cowan asserted he sees "no reason for calling a grand jury at the present time."

"Neither the prosecuting attorney, attorney general or any other person has requested a jury," he said, "and I wouldn't like to pay $36 a day for a jury to sit around with nothing in mind."

The case of J. W. Hostetter, former Jackson county court judge, on indictments charging corruptly allowing claims, was set for May 29. McKittrick plans to dispose of the long case here.

fore the Hostetter case is tried. Several gambling cases were set for trial next Monday.

Royal Couple Enjoy Voyage

ABOARD THE LINER EMPRESS OF AUSTRALIA, May 8.—(P)—King George VI and Queen Elizabeth—both good sailors—are enjoying their voyage to Canada and the United States free of seasickness, which is more than some of their party could say.

The liner Empress of Australia, on her first full day out of Portsmouth, yesterday, encountered a stiff breeze and did considerable pitching.

As a result there were several absences from the divine service in the liner's main dining room but the king and queen were there in front, joining heartily in the responsive readings and singing.

Early today the liner and convoying warships ran into a haze and slowed from 17 to 12 knots. The squadron went into fog formation with the liner leading, followed in single file by the cruisers Southampton and Glasgow and the battle cruiser Repulse.

Visibility improved somewhat and normal speed was resumed two hours later.

The congregation included the ship's officers, bluejackets, marines and members of their majesties' staff.

After the service the king and queen walked along the deck, smiling and chatting with fellow passengers.

The king wore a lounge suit, in blue with a white pin stripe, and the queen a salmon pink costume with suede shoes and a brown fur.

At noon the royal party donned life belts at a siren signal and lined up for inspection. From then almost until luncheon the king and queen sat on deck. In the afternoon their majesties rested and read.

Coronation Service At The Baptist Church

Attractive Event Presented There Sunday Night

Midst an attractive setting of spring flowers, the coronation services of the Girl's auxiliary of the Women's Missionary society was held at the First Baptist church on Sunday evening. The stage was banked with ferns, spirea, and purple iris, with a background of white crepe paper streamers touched with silver. The chairs were covered with white slips and a large candelabrum holding six white candles was placed at each side of the stage.

Mrs. W. O. Stanley, W. M. U. president in introducing the program said, "The future of our church depends upon the education of our youth and this program will exemplify a small portion of the training which is being given the youth of our church under the direction of the Women's Missionary society."

The W. M. U. hymn, "I Love to Tell the Story" was played as a corset solo by Chester Kirkpatrick. Queen Rose Marie Reed played a violin solo, "The Holy City."

Following the exemplification of the work of the maidens, ladies in waiting and the princesses, the five queens approached the stage. The junior queens wore white formal and the intermediate queens were attired in green. The counselors, Mrs. Gordon Strain and Mrs. M. L. Edwards, wearing white satin formal, crowned the queens as they knelt in a semi-circle. Following the exemplification of their work the W. M. U. queen, Mrs. Stanley, attired in a white satin robe with a royal purple train and wearing a gold crown, presented the queens with A. G. pins.

The three queens of scepter, dressed in white formal and wearing gold crowns marched to the stage, knelt, and were presented scepters by Mrs. W. L. Fuqua and Mrs. Edwards.

Miss Darlene Soter, queen regent, lovely in an orchid formal, wearing a gold crown and carrying a scepter advanced to the stage, knelt and was presented the emblem of the queen regent, a beautiful green satin cape, lined with white. Immediately the queens and queens of scepter formed a semicircle around her and Mrs. Carl Oswald sang, "Ready." Miss Soter then gave the history of the Southern Baptist Convention and of the Baptist World Alliance.

Mrs. Fuqua introduced Miss Elma Currin, State Young People's leader who in a very impressive ceremony gave the charge to these queens. It was an inspirational sight as these nine girls in their white, green and orchid formal knelt in a semi-circle and listened attentively to the charge as given by Miss Currin who wore a rose taffeta formal. Miss Currin stated that the G. A. was the largest denominational organization for teen age girls in the world and that these girls should shine as the brightness of the firmament. She said, "I charge you in the name of Christ to live up to all you have learned, to walk in queenly paths, to accept responsibility and because you are young and your life is ahead of you I charge you to fill it with queenly deeds and to always crown Christ upon the throne of your heart and walk in the paths of righteousness for His name's sake."

Appropriate songs were interspersed and sung by a chorus of W. A. A. and R. A. A. Mrs. Glenn Kirkpatrick accompanied at the piano. Mrs. W. L. Fuqua, Mrs. M. L. Edwards, Mrs. Gordon Strain, Mrs. L. E. Hyatt, Mrs. Carl Oswald, Mrs. Roy Duncan, and Carl Yessen were the Counselors in charge of this program and wish to express appreciation to all who assisted in any way. The beautiful lighting effects were under the direction of Donald Decker.

Discovers Hull of Ancient Craft

MANTEO, Roanoke Island, N. C., May 8.—(P)—Alpheus W. Drinkwater, who was, in a way, one of the midwives of the birth of aviation, would bet his last telegraph key that the hull of a ship, uncovered by a storm recently on the ever-changing dunes, is a 16th century craft.

Drinkwater, the telegraph operator who first flashed to the world the news of the Wright brothers' flight at Kitty Hawk in 1903, spoke of the ancient hull with the enthusiasm of an antiquarian as he awaited the arrival of an official from the Marine Museum at Newport News, Va., to study the wreck.

Meanwhile, as a precaution against souvenir hunters, the coast guard stood watch over the vessel, which Drinkwater believes might have plied the treacherous waters on the outer banks at the time Sir Walter Raleigh's "lost colony," the first English attempt to settle the new world, was struggling for existence on this island before vanishing to an unknown fate.

The wreck was found, in fact, only about three miles south of Roanoke Island, and, after assiduous delving through ancient books on marine craft, Drinkwater made a significant discovery—the vessel had the dimensions of a cormorant, a light war vessel developed by Sir Walter Raleigh in the latter part of the 16th century.

"There are many hulls in this section," Drinkwater said, "but not any like this one. She's the oldest one I've ever found, or any body else around here, for that matter. I'm sure she's better than 300 years old. I'd stake anything on that."

Slump To The Grain Market

CHICAGO, May 8.—(AP)—Selling of July and September wheat contracts, which represented the 1939 crop, caused prices to slump more than a cent a bushel in the wheat pit here today as the market registered trade reaction to receipt of good rains in many sections of the belt over the week-end.

Strength in May wheat helped to rally the market about 1 cent from its early low point, however. There have been no deliveries of actual grain on May contracts so far this month.

Wheat closed 1/4 to 1 1/2 cent lower than Saturday, July and September 72 1/2 to 73 1/2; corn unchanged to 1/4 cent off, July 50 1/2, September 51 1/2 to 51 3/4; oats 1/4 to 1/2 cent down.

Light Trading On Stock Market

NEW YORK, May 8.—(AP)—You could take today's stock market or leave it alone and the exception of small volume, combined with a declining shift, apparently indicated many traders followed the latter course.

The list got off to a slight advance at the opening. Then motors started to give ground, followed by steels. Losses running to 2 or more points at the worst, however, were substantially reduced in most cases at the close. There also were a number of modest plus signs in evidence.

Improvement in the final hour apparently was based on rumors the soft coal tie-up, which received the principal blame for the apathetic retreat, was on the verge of settlement through intervention of governmental authorities.

Transfers for the five hours approximated 350,000 shares, one of the lowest totals since last June.

Court Etiquette Aside For The Tour of King and Queen

ignation wouldn't have altered their flavor.
But Mr. Kennedy likes to employ his native tongue. And since there was no reason why he shouldn't in this instance, he followed his own bent rather than custom.

And that is the moral to be drawn from the ambassador's rather humorous departure from custom. The king and queen want, and expect, us to be ourselves.

Toss Court Etiquette Aside
The British have made it quite clear that their majesties expect to adapt themselves to the customs of this country. Court etiquette will be tossed aside, and they will look only for such courtesies as are extended to any distinguished persons.

The deference paid to royalty in England on formal occasions is pretty terrific, and any effort to transfer this to America on short notice would be absurd. The curtsying and backing and what not require years of training to avoid farcical awkwardness.

So far as his majesty is concerned, when he really is putting on a full dress show even his queen has to curtsy to him. And mere nobility has to curtsy and bow to all royalty.

Princess Elizabeth (the heir to the throne) and her younger sister, Margaret Rose, used to get a great laugh out of this requirement when formal affairs were being held in Buckingham Palace. The two small girls would suddenly dash out into a corridor along which ladies in waiting were retiring, with the result that the unfortunate ladies had to stop and go down to the floor in curtsies.

But the understanding is that the curtsies and that sort of thing are not expected in this Republic. Naturally, if a woman wants to curtsy, and knows how, nobody will stop her though the action will be rather conspicuous.

If she isn't an expert at it she had better let it alone, for there is nothing that looks so absurd as an awkward curtsy. The United States embassy in London trains all American women before they are presented at court.

Both the king and the queen are very democratic and easy to meet. About the only thing one has to remember on being presented is to let royalty do the leading. That is, if they wish to shake hands—and they frequently do—they will indicate it. They also lead any conversation. The safest form of address to stick to is "Your Majesty."

rather one of prevention," he added.
The cradle is not too early a point at which to find such potential cases, Dr. Ruggles said, and often a playmate may be the best doctor in analyzing a child's mental state when he remarks that the individual is "all wet" or "kinda screwy."

Such a quick analysis often indicates that a child who does not get along with others will fail to adjust himself or herself to society in later life. Such mental cases respond quickly to treatment when found early in life, he declared.

Patterns of fingerprints and the twists of the tiniest blood vessels in the cuticle of the fingernails was declared today to be the newest aid in the diagnosis of epilepsy in one of the first reports to the more than 1,000 psychiatrists here for the meeting.

Dr. Meyers Brown and Dr. H. A. Paskind of Northwestern University, Chicago, found that "whorls" or cyclone patterns of the fingerprints were indicative of comparatively normal individuals, while "arch" patterns were found much more frequently in patients so violent that they had to be confined in institutions.

Sentencing of young children to reform schools and detention homes was termed "a definite threat to the juvenile mind" by Dr. George M. Lott, of New York City.

Ponder Moves On Security

MOSCOW, May 8.—(AP)—Sir William Seeds, British ambassador to Moscow, visited Vyacheslav Molotov, Soviet Russian premier and foreign commissar, today to present London's reply to Russia's security proposals. They conferred for 30 minutes.

It was understood the British answer rejected the Soviet proposal for a British-French-Russian guarantee to Baltic and Black Sea states but favored Soviet assistance to all states on the western border of the U. S. S. R. and promised British and French aid to Russia if such assistance involved her in a conflict.

The British ambassador also was understood to have been instructed to ask whether the resignation of Maxim Litvinoff as foreign commissar meant a change in Soviet policy.

Few foreign observers expected an early clarification of the Soviet attitude on the negotiations with Britain.

It was pointed out Moscow was in a position to take time to ponder carefully before undertaking any new commitments.

The possibility was mentioned that the government may choose to wait for further clarification of the Polish-German situation.

Five years later he became a correspondent for Kennett, Hopkins & Co., a grain wire house in Chicago, and subsequently moved to Wichita, where he filled a similar position in a branch office of a large Chicago house. In 1917 he became manager of the Topeka office of B. C. Christopher & Co., after which he entered the government's service, first as an investigator for the Federal Trade Commission and the Department of Agriculture.

The Family Doctor

Growth, Distribution
Of Body Hair
Controlled By Inheritance

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEN
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine

In the World War the hairiness of the ears of the cannoneers was celebrated in song in many a tavern. Many people, as they get older, tend to develop excess hair in the nose and in the canal of the ear, as well as on other portions of the body.

One case is on record of a family in which the growth of hair on the ears was tremendous. There was a dark growth of long hair which still remained black even at the age of 81 in one member of the family. It covered all of the front of the ear, as well as the lower portion of the back of the ear and presented a remarkable appearance. The excess hair began to grow in this family at the age of 18 or 19, and every boy in the family was affected, except two who were too young at the time of the examination. None of the women in the family had this condition.

When a study of the family was made, it was found that the great-grandfather had had this type of hairiness. In the next generation, three boys in one family and two boys in another family had this condition, and in the next generation all of the boys developed the condition, except those who were too young.

There are many families in which there is a tendency toward excessively thick eyebrows and long thick eyelashes. Sometimes the styles favor thick eyebrows and long, thick eyelashes.

On other occasions, as at present, the styles favor thin eyebrows and excessively long, thick eyelashes, so that the damsels of Hollywood pluck their eyebrows and wear artificial eyelashes.

In many families there is a peculiar distribution of excess hair on the back or on the chest. All of these instances indicate, of course, that hair growth is largely controlled by inheritance, not only the excess growth, but distribution as well.

There are certain examples of families in which there was a tendency for excess hair to grow all over the face, giving the appearance of an animal, the most famous instances having been made notorious in circuses under the designation of dog-faced boys and dog-faced girls, and also as wild boys and wild girls.

In this type of inheritance, the males are affected much more frequently than are the females.

The amount of hair on the body varies in different races. Red Indians and Eskimos have the least amount of hair, and a Japanese group known as Ainu of Northern Japan have the most. There are also racial differences in the amount of skin on the face occupied by the beard.

Nowadays many studies are being made to determine the extent to which the glands are responsible for excess hair. Of course, when inheritance of excess hair occurs associated with glandular disturbances, it is the glandular structure and physiology that are inherited rather than the growth of the hair or the hair cells, this being secondary.

The most common form of excess hair seen in women is something resembling a mustache in the male. Today there are in most large cities institutions which have been developed for the removal of excess hair on the upper lip by the use of the electric needle, this being the only method for removing such hair permanently and without harm.

Raising a Family

"Give Andy some of your candy, darling. You must be generous with your nice things."

So Billy gives Andy some candy — Andy who never tasted anything so good, as he is lucky to get a penny to spend.

In a day or two Andy hides behind a telegraph pole, peeping shyly at the children with their bright wagons and tricycles. He lives blocks away, but no one misses him from a family of ten.

Billy sees him and calls, "Hello, Andy." And Andy says "Hello," his eyes on Billy's shining blue scooter.

"I'll give you a ride," offers our

William. "Down to the corner and back. You can work it."

Andy tries several times and loses his balance. The scooter falls sideways and Andy gets some bumps. But finally he manages to keep it steady and away he goes like a bird skimming the sky. He is so happy he laughs all the way.

Billy's mother calls her boy in. "Billy, I don't want you giving rides to wandering children," she said. "Andy should not be here at all. And, besides, Daddy said you had to be careful of your present. It will get dinged and spoiled if you keep lending it to people."

"Andy isn't strange. I know him. I gave him that candy you said to. And you said for me to be generous with my nice things."

"That's true, dear. I did say that. But there are things to give and things to lend and others that we have to keep. I think it would be better not to let Andy ride your new scooter any more. Just tell him you are not allowed."

One day some visitors came to spend the day. They brought Victor. And Victor had to be entertained. "Take him out and let him try your scooter," said mother.

"But you said not to lend it to anybody," her son reminded her. "You said that Daddy wouldn't want it lent."

"But this is different. Victor is your guest. He came ever so far to see you. You must be kind and make him have a good time."

"But Andy came to see me, too. He crossed lots of streets to come, and he had nothing to play with."

"What a little arguer you are," sighed mother. "You can think up more things to say and every word I utter is used against me."

"What, mother?"

"Oh, never mind. Just run along, the two of you, and have a good time."

Outside stood Andy. He had a wonderful new wagon. It belonged to his brother, who is in school, but who allowed Andy to use it when he was not delivering papers.

"I came to give you a ride," said Andy. "I can give him a ride too," pointing at the new boy.

Billy and Victor were wild about the wagon. It was much better than the scooter. Mother started to call them back, as she could not allow favors to be accepted unless returned. Then she said, "They are all so generous. I can't interfere. They know better than I do."

Aden—Britain's Gibraltar of the East

THE British who have to live there call it the "blasted hole," but the tiny crescent of land on the southwest coast of Arabia, Aden, turns out to be important property these days. Strategically located, this sunburnt colony is a sort of Gibraltar of the east for Great Britain.

Aden narrows to a sharp point at the Strait of Bab el Mandeb, where the Red sea empties into the Gulf of Aden. Here the British have control and thus the Arabian strait is kept open like Gibraltar and the Suez canal as another vital link in the empire's long lifeline through the Mediterranean and Red sea to India.

They lead a dull life. Aden clings to the side of an extinct volcano which rises some 1700 feet above the sea. So the sun pours down on the colony unmercifully. To make matters worse great clouds of choking dust smother the area during the monsoon season, blowing down from the interior.

There is a saying in Aden that dust is always present, for that matter, flavoring the drinks and turning the color of the cats to a dull brown. England annexed Aden to its Indian territory in 1839. Recently it was made a colony, even issuing its own stamps, one of which is shown above. (Copyright, 1939, NEA Service, Inc.)

Sedalia Wins Opening Game From Eldon

Merchants Make Winning Run In Tenth Game Played In Rain

The Sedalia Merchants played ten innings of baseball Sunday afternoon in a drizzling rain to obtain the winning run to defeat the Eldon Merchants in the opening game of Sedalia's home season. The score was 3 to 2.

In spite of the morning rain the diamond at Liberty Park was in fairly good condition at the time the game was scheduled to be started. Eldon arriving and the desire of the local Merchants to get the season opened here, rain or shine, the teams took the field.

The results of the game prove it was a good game to watch, and Manager Vincent Seigel exclaimed, "It will take a lot more rain than what fell Sunday to keep the Sedalia Merchants from playing baseball."

It was the Eldon Merchants who drew first blood. After two outs had been made O. Novack singled and Delbridge went to the plate and scored Novack on a three-base hit. Allen made the third out for Eldon.

Sedalia's tie-run came in the fourth inning, when Summers singled, Livengood sacrificed, Summers went to third on Sullivan's single. In an attempt squeeze play Walker laid one down to Novack, who dropped the ball for an error and Summers scored.

The local club took the lead in the eighth, when Livengood singled, stole second, and scored on Walker's single, but the lead was held not for long, as the visitors came through for another run in their half of the ninth, with Bowden getting a double, and scoring on Allen's single.

The tenth inning decided the contest when Overfelt tripped and scored on Summers' single.

Weather conditions were not so bad until the sixth inning, when the diamond began to get heavy, and the rain began to pepper down hard. Between "rain drops" the teams continued playing, with their spirits up and their clothing damp.

Next Sunday the Sedalia Merchants meet the Lebanon Bears on the Liberty Park diamond. The Lebanon club has been playing since early spring and are reported to be in excellent shape for a tough ball game.

Johnstown Collects His Share of Kentucky Derby Spoils

Johnstown, ridden by Jockey Stout, shown crossing the finish line of the 65th Kentucky Derby without a foot on the ground. Johnstown, victor over the smallest field in the history of the classic race, was clocked at 2 minutes, 3 2-5 seconds, for the mile and a quarter distance.

Runs Are What Count To Sew Up Pennants

Leading Teams Have Fine Pitching and Heavy Hitting

By JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer
It may be possible to win baseball games on good pitching, the way Marse Joe McCarthy insists his New York Yankees sew up their pennants, but the runs are what count.

The fact Cincinnati's Reds and the Yanks themselves are in front today seems to prove it. Both are teams which have a faculty for hitting when hits mean runs.

After a two-day stay in second place the Yankees climbed back on top yesterday by shellacking the Chicago White Sox, 15 to 4, and those four runs which Red Ruffing gave on nine hits would have won lots of games, so the fact that Joe Gordon hit a couple of home runs, once with one on and again with two on, was of more than passing importance.

It is worth noting, too, that the four games the Yankees have lost were games in which they hit no home runs although their pitching was sometimes better than that of the opposition.

Last Friday, when Cleveland dropped the champions out of first, Lefty Gomez gave up only six hits in 11 innings, struck out three and passed three while Al Milnar was touched for 11 safeties, gave four walks and struck out only one. The first game the Yankees lost this season was a four-hitter by Oral Hildebrand and Johnny Murphy, while the New Yorkers were getting six off Washington's Dutch Leonard.

Bombarded Phillies
Cincinnati's case is similar. The Reds bombarded the Phillies yesterday, 13 to 4 although their ten hits were just one more than Paul Derringer gave. But Cincinnati's knocks included a home run by Frank McCormick with the bases loaded and another by Harry Craft with two on.

When the Reds returned to the top of the National League Saturday by beating Boston, 6 to 4, they outthit the Bees a mere 13 to 11.

Whether a lot of base hits means good batting or poor pitching is a question like which came first—the chicken or the egg.

Yesterday's record had several instances where one hit decided a ball game. The Brooklyn Dodgers moved into second place in the senior circuit by beating the St. Louis Cardinals, 2-1, on four hits. One of these was a pinch single by Bebe Phelps with the bases loaded. It scored both Brooklyn runs. Similarly, Sammy Hale delivered a pinch single to score two runs in the tenth inning of Cleveland's game with Washington to give Bob Feller an 8-7 victory after the youngster did a rescue act.

The Philadelphia Athletics had no trouble beating Detroit, 10-3, and shoving the Tigers into seventh place in the American League after Earle Brucker homered with the bases loaded in the fifth inning.

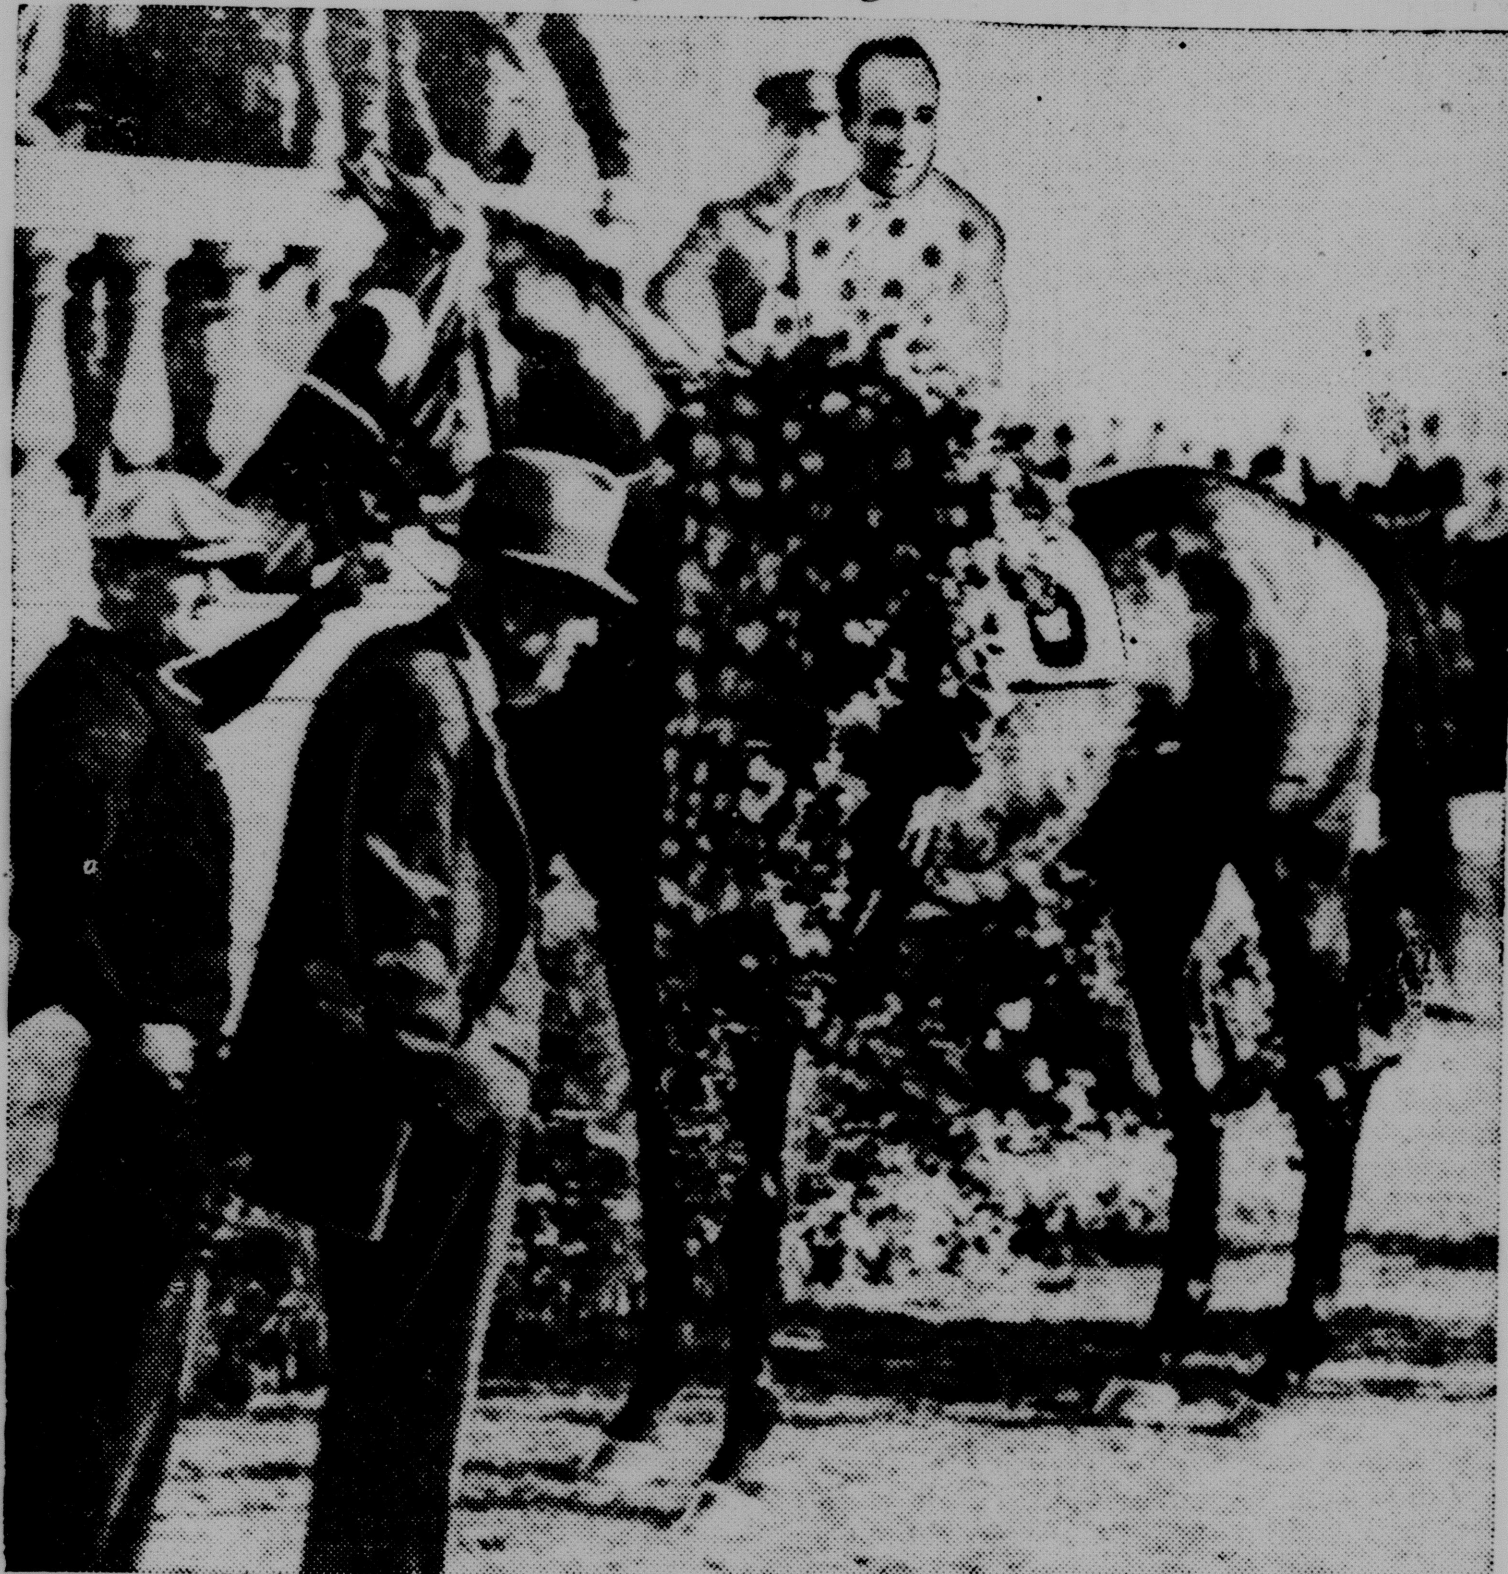

On the other hand the Boston Red Sox booted away their first place perch with three errors which gave the St. Louis Browns a 6-3 triumph.

The New York Giants and Pittsburgh Pirates showed home runs aren't necessary if a team gets enough lesser blows at the proper time. The Giants got 16 for 25 bases to crumple the Chicago Cubs, 10-3, while the Pirates plastered 14 against the Boston Bees and won, 9-2.

Johnstown Wins Derby by Six Lengths

Johnstown, winner of the 65th Kentucky Derby after receiving the victor's wreath of roses at Churchill Downs, Louisville. Jockey Stout, who rode William Woodward's two-year-old across the finish line six lengths ahead of the second horse, is up. "Sunny Jim" Fitzsimmons, Johnstown's trainer, with hat, is standing before the horse.

Blades were fined a sawbuck each for fraternizing with the umpire warned 'em to watch their step. . . Any truth in the yarn the P. G. A. has asked a well known pro to resign for peddling equipment to department stores?

Rue de Sockerue: Don't get too teary about Jim Braddock's comeback. . . Old Jim needs a little fresh dough and a little exercise and there isn't an easier way to get either than by bopping off a pair of guys like Len Harvey and Jack Derl.

Today's Guest Star:

H. G. Salsinger, Detroit News: "Not alone will the Yankees win the 1939 pennant, but they are more than likely to win by a margin of 20 or more games, breaking their own record of 19½ games, the margin by which they won in 1936."

Putt putt: Wait and see if three of the remaining five spots in the rich Goodall Round Robin don't go to Denny Shute, Harry Cooper and Johnny Revolta. . . The Philadelphia Country Club course will be shortened from a

Smart to See—Smarter to Buy!

The model illustrated is the Buick Special model 41 four-door touring sedan $996 delivered at Flint, Mich.*

$894 AND UP
delivered at Flint, Mich.
*Prices subject to change without notice. Transportation, state and local taxes (if any), optional equipment and accessories extra.

NOBODY has to tell you, skimming along at that brisk Buick pace, that plenty of eyes are turning your direction! What you're discovering is how much more there is to this beauty than a look or two will uncover!

You're feeling the eager power that a straight-eight can pour — when it's a Dynaflex eight with a cyclone in each cylinder to give life, lift—and thrust—to every smooth-flowing mile!

You're finding out that bumps can be tamed—when all four wheels, not just the front, ride on stout coiled springs of soft and cushiony steel!

You're discovering how pleasant it is to look out through windows enlarged as much as 412 square inches. And you're enjoying that very special Buick "feel," firm and taut and steady, nowhere any skittery looseness, or wind wander, or hunt!

In a word, you're beginning to realize that, smart as it is to see, this Buick's even smarter to buy—even if you had to pay a premium to get it.

But you don't have to pay a premium! Instead, this great-eight beauty is today priced lower than some sixes. Costs are below those of a year ago. Total outlay — counting included equipment you'd pay extra for elsewhere—is often less than for some cars with lower advertised prices.

So what to do? Easy! Simply turn around, head for the showroom, get down to the buying details.

You'll find your Buick dealer eager to serve—just like the car he sells!
